

NEW FOREST RUN CATTLE CLASSES

COMMON RIGHTS ARE AT THE HEART OF THE WORKING OF THE NEW FOREST

The rights are attached to land and although there are different types of right, the most common is the right of 'pasture'. This allows commoners to 'turn out' cattle to graze the open Forest eating the undergrowth. Without this grazing the Forest would look quite different so commoning is vital to keep the Forest the way it is.

The New Forest Agricultural Show Society are pleased to be celebrating and championing the cattle that run on the Forest, Crown Land or Common, with these classes.
